Grand Opening of Anna's Home

On the Feast of St. Joseph, Restorative Partners held an Open House for Anna's Home in Paso Robles, CA, a new supportive housing program for women and children who are involved in the Department of Social Services Family and Drug and Alcohol program. About 100 people gathered to welcome our first residents, bless the house, share music, delicious food and build new relationships. Anna's Home, named after my mother, Anna M.L. Tabler, was purchased by longtime volunteers and CSJ Associates Pete and Patty Pepper. Dozens of donors and volunteers provided hours of painting, planted a vegetable garden, remodeled to ensure child safety and provided funding and/or in-kind donations to completely furnish the home. Each of the five bedrooms are sponsored by a family who had lost a child to cancer, accidents, or drugs and alcohol disease. Highlights of Sunday's Open House included the sponsoring families meeting the new residents, celebrating the generosity of donors and volunteers and honoring the kitchen/dining room with a plaque: "In honor of the Sisters of St. Joseph: communities form around a kitchen table."

The Fourth Sunday of Lent

"Awake O Sleeper, and arise from the dead, and Christ will give you Light." ~ Ephesians 5/14

John's gospel tells us about a man born blind who eventually comes to the fullness of his sight. Jesus smears clay over the eyes of the blind man creating more blindness. The blind man then expresses three developing responses to inquiries to his recent gift of sight: "I do not know him?" "He is a prophet." "I do believe!"

Samuel anoints a youthful David and David begins to see that he is to shepherd more than sheep. Paul in his letter to Ephesians sees that he must mature like "children of light".

There are times when I know I am asleep, missing important moments, blind to the truth, or blind to an unseen reality. We get used to seeing in a certain way and we blind ourselves to the deeper truths. This Sunday's Scripture point us in a different direction, gives us hope and calls us to awaken! ❖

New Resident at Medaille Community House

Authalia Millogo "Nelly" is a physician from Burkina Faso. She studied medicine at the University Cheikh Anta Diop in Senegal. She came to the United States four years ago with the goal to do a residency in a hospital in the United States and to become a specialist. She joined Medaille Community House of Discernment in February where she is living in community, studying and discerning the next chapter of her life.

We welcome Nelly and pray that her discernment is fruitful and blessed. ❖

Calls to Action ENGAGEMENT PROCESS

On March 11th, 500 supporters attended the 12th Circle the City Tea. Sister Adele O’Sullivan, CSJ, is the founder and director of the fifty bed Medical Respite Center and Parsons Family Health Center in Phoenix. Adele’s call to serve the vulnerable is a living response to the Calls to Action: “The Holy Spirit calls all people to holiness...” (p.9)

Adele, with a staff of 100 and numerous volunteers provide a loving environment for homeless women and men to heal physically, emotionally and spiritually. Eighty percent of the 1,200 served have accepted permanent housing. A circle is completed when initially served, a person re-discovers his/her own dignity and in return responds with love and kindness to others. ❖

Walk with Wisdom

What is your experience of the CSJ charism? When have I had an experience that profoundly changed my world view? What is your sense of how our larger culture looks at conflict? Share this and more as you “Walk with Wisdom.”

“Walk with Wisdom” is a six-part series inviting members of the Joseph Family to explore its charism and mission through videos and discussion, reflective activities and readings. The program offers participants deeper conversation on how to apply the CSJ charism to issues and circumstances of our polarizing times. And it’s an opportunity for the Carondelet congregation to further its oneness by through a common learning experience.

Sessions are designed for six to 10 members to complete in two to three hours. A facilitator guide and videos are available at no cost on line.

Go to www.walkwithwisdom.org. For more information, contact the Justice, Peace and Integrity of Creation office at 310.889.2119. ❖

"Being creative is "a way of being in touch with the Divine within. I like being creative because it takes me out of myself and into the unknown full of surprise. It is a gift that I recognize in myself and I express it in clay." ❖

Vocation Awareness Idaho Catholic Youth Conference (ICYC)

The Diocese of Boise held its annual Idaho Catholic Youth Conference (ICYC) this past weekend drawing 1900 youth and chaperones from Idaho, Oregon and Nevada. Religious men and women from about 15 different communities and Boise seminarians were in attendance. Sisters Mary Catherine Siminski and Joann Heinritz represented the CSJs.

"Theology on Tap", a monthly Catholic young adult gathering, had the ICYC keynote speaker as their guest. One of the young men asked, "Sister Mary Catherine, where were you teaching at St. John Chrysostom in 1992? You taught me in the 8th grade."

I visited St. Mark's School with four seminarians and joined 500 students for Mass. Afterwards I was given an opportunity to talk to the 7th and 8th graders. I left them copies of Sister Davida Conlan's Prayer for Vocations.

Finally, a Boise CSJ Associate from St. Paul hosted an interview with us on a catholic radio station for "Vocation Focus" which will air in April. We will let you know where to find it online. ❖
